

The Bath

Lying in the bath one night,
He had a terrible, terrible fright.
Out of the overflow and into the water,
Slid a thing that should not oughter.

It bit our hero on the leg,
And there we found him,
Stone cold dead.